Session B: What Now for Women's Rights?

Members' Lounge

We've had the vote for a century, but women still face significant legal and other inequalities in our personal, political, and work lives. Should we fight for a federal and (or) state ERA? Must we fight forever for control of our bodies? How might NY courts work better for women? How does technology fit into all of this? Or poverty? The list goes on. Focus, strategy, determination, and a strong concerted effort were critical to the suffragists' success. What should our focus and strategies be? Are we sufficiently determined and united in our efforts? Is our "progressive" state working for us? How does our polarized national political environment present unique opportunities as well as challenges? Our savvy panelists will help us sort all this out. Bring your own questions and insights.

Moderator: Dare Thompson, President, League of Women Voters of New York State

Panelists: Claire Chapman, President of Forward March NY; Denise Kronstadt, Deputy Executive Director and Director of Advocacy and Policy at the Fund for Modern Courts; Julie Novkov, Professor of Political Science and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies at the University at Albany, SUNY
